WE ARE HIRING!

Intern (Berlin-based)

The 2024 internship programme is currently accepting applications from students. The internship spans three months and is available in January, April, July, and October.

Main responsibilities:

- Assisting consultants in various client projects, including researching current human rights issues and labor standards across different sectors, supply chains, countries, and regions.
- Participating in projects such as developing tools for assessing human rights risks, drafting briefings on international regulatory developments, and conducting research on human rights violations.
- Providing support with administrative and communications-related tasks.

What we expect from you:

- Strong research skills, with a particular interest in social and human rights issues in business.
- A team player with excellent communication skills.
- Proficiency in MS Office, self-organisation, and diligence.
- Fluency in spoken and written English; German proficiency is a plus.
- Willingness to work from Berlin.
- Enrollment at the undergraduate or graduate level is mandatory.

What we offer:

- Join a multinational and dynamic team in a vibrant business field, providing ample space for your innovative ideas.
- Enjoy a flexible working environment, with an office located in Berlin-Tempelhof.
- Engage in exciting projects with renowned brands and NGOs.
- Receive a three-month contract, with a monthly compensation of 520 Euros, plus transportation costs (BVG).
